Mission Priest – Father George Gilliland

Rev. Father George Gilliland is originally from Rothesay, NB., and is presently a Roman Catholic Diocesan priest with the Diocese of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island. In his early days he lived at a Trappist Monastery and considered monastic life. He then worked for many years in various hospitals as a nursing orderly, spent six years on the Metropolitan Toronto Ambulance Service, made several extended trips throughout the United States on a motorcycle, studied at three different universities and then was ordained a priest in 1988. His ministry as a priest over the last 24 years has included six different parish assignments, twelve years of chaplaincy at Charlottetown General Hospital and facilitating parish missions, talks and presentations to special interest groups throughout the Maritimes and Ontario. It is from this background experience that Father Gilliland will draw upon as he shares his spiritual insights with us during our parish mission in preparation for Holy Week and Easter.
